Can you answer questions in he comments section? If so, I may sound dumb, but I can't find anything that lets you make a post. Does anyone know where to start a post? That would help me a lot because I'm pretty clueless when it comes to forums (except replies). Thank You!

That is a great idea,I mean no offense but our icons are kind of boring so being able to have the dragonets of destiny as my icon would be awsome and pluse we would be able to show our support and greatfulness for the Arthur and the amazig books!

teleport means bumping the thread up the forums so more people see it. Bookmark..idk, but I think it means that you save it in "My Posts" so you can find it later.

@emeralddragon7243: A thread is a series of posts. This for example, where everyone is posting, is a thread. When you clock on "forums", in the upper left corner of the white page is a button that says, "New topic" click that to create a thread.
